8	new para 0.16Ca	new paragraph 0.16Ca re MALPs 0.16Ca In May 2015 two sets of Minor Alterations to the London Plan (MALPs) – on Housing Standards and Parking Standards – were published for public consultation. These were prepared to bring the London Plan in line with new national housing standards and the Government’s approach to car parking policy. An Examination in Public considered the MALPs in October 2015, and they were formally published as alterations to the London Plan in March 2016.
9	para 0.16D	update paragraph 0.16D re current London Plan 0.16D This document, published in March 2015 2016 , is consolidated with all the alterations to the London Plan since 2011.
10	Para 0.16G	update paragraph 0.16G re London Plan full review 0.16G ... In light of this, initial preparatory work towards a full review of the Plan will commenced d in 2015.
11	para 0.16H	update paragraph 0.16H re MALPs 0.16H In the interim, as a result of changes proposed in the Government’s Housing Standards Review, the Mayor will bring brought forward additional alterations to the London Plan the Housing Standards MALP in early May 2015 to reflect Government housing standards. He will also give gave active consideration to addressing changes to national policy on car parking should Government bring these forward . The Mayor recognises the flexible approach in the National Planning Policy Framework on parking standards, and the abolition of maximum parking standards in national policy. National planning guidance published in 2014 also recommends that planning policies should consider how parking provision can be enhanced to encourage the vitality of town centres. Whilst the Mayor considers that there are sound reasons for retaining residential parking standards in core and inner London, he recognises the opportunity to adopt a more flexible approach in parts of outer London, especially where public transport accessibility levels are lower. He therefore intends to bring brought forward through the Parking Standards MALP an early review of parking standards in Outer London in advance of the general review of the Plan. In doing so he will give gave active consideration to any the changes to national policy on car parking NPPF paragraph 39 on parking standards introduced by the Secretary of State’s ‘Planning Update March 2015’ Written Statement to Parliament.
