

Quarter 4 - Mayor's Action Plan for improving transparency, accountability and trust in policing

March 2023 update

Key information

Publication type: Consultation

Contents

General information

Full report

General information

The Mayor of London, Sadiq Khan, has published an Action Plan to improve trust and confidence in the Metropolitan Police Service (MPS) and to address community concerns about the disproportionality in the use of certain police powers affecting Black Londoners.

The Action Plan has been developed following a series of consultations with more than 400 individuals and groups that either work with or within Black communities. The work was undertaken in response to concerns raised about the disproportionate use of police powers, including stop and search, the use of force and Taser. Communities told the MPS and City Hall that they wanted to see increased transparency in police actions, decisions and communications; a police service that better reflects the city it serves; and improved community monitoring and involvement in reviewing the disproportionate use of police powers and complaints.

Full report

Q4 – Mayor's Action Plan for improving transparency, accountability and trust in policing, March 2023.

Back to table of contents