Dear Sir

I am registered for the London Plan feedback – however I have not yet received my password

I would like to comment on a section within the proposed London Plan

As a business we have been working closely with BRC and we fully support their feedback which they have submitted to you

The section that we would like to comment on in support of the BRC feedback relates to

Policy E9 Retail Markets and Hot Food Takeaway

We are concerned that especially in London that Planning teams using a '400m rule' could be a 'blunt tool' and could prevent amenity not just to our business but to other businesses as well

We believe that all applications should be considered on all their merits working pragmatically within markets to promote jobs and amenity especially within areas that are prone to dense residential concentrations

We do support the responses provided by the BRC

Thanks
marc
