

Data for London Advisory Board – 23 February 2023

Summary minutes

Chair: Theo Blackwell Chief Digital Officer for London

For attendees and apologies, see Appendix I.

- 1) Introduction – Theo Blackwell
Welcome and asked the Board to note minutes from the previous meetings and the two actions.
- 2) Presentations given by the lightening talk speakers:
 - I. Peter Kemp (GLA) talked about the Planning Data Hub, this project speaks to the core businesses of London and of Greater London Authority.
 - II. Stefanie Hughes (GLA) talked about Air Quality, which is an example of partnerships and big data.
 - III. Jay Saggar (LOTI) talked about Rough Sleeping, which is an example of how to are bring data together across various public sector and voluntary sectors.
 - IV. Sophie Deakin (GLA) talked about Safe Stats, this project includes engagement with emergency services, police, and information governance.

Members then asked questions to the speakers and had a discussion.

- 3) DFL programme for discussion – Theo Blackwell and Craig Campbell
Theo spoke briefly about the feedback received since the last meeting.
Craig then went through the DFL programme by showing a presentation and explaining the different categories and stages.
- 4) Endorsement of data collaboration strategy of terms of reference
Theo and the board agreed to endorse the Data Collaboration strategy and reminded the board they had until the 6 March to give any feedback on the Stakeholder Engagement strategy. It was agreed to start an ongoing discussion with Board members and others on 'Future state of data', taking on board comments that the development of the new platform fulfilment of the data collaboration strategy would establish foundations for greater creativity and benefits to Londoners directly. Theo Blackwell and Luke Marshall-Waterfield to lead.
- 5) Platform Update – Sven Latham
Sven discussed the paper submitted to the board and shared news that they had recruited CKAN to start building the search and catalogue function.
- 6) Closing Remarks – Theo Blackwell
Theo thanked everyone for their contributions and time.
