

Response from a Royal Borough of Greenwich resident

On police station closures and giving Boris our views, well here is mine.

I would suggest that Boris takes himself to Woolwich without warning without cameras without protection and see how the real world lives in a crime ridden area where shops are being targeted by groups of thieves running in with knives stealing equipment leaving staff traumatised.

This of course is only a suggestion one which will probably get more notice than my giving reason to keep a much needed station open.
